LIDEX® (fluocinonide)
0.05% Cream and Ointment
TOPSYN® (fluocinonide)
0.05% Gel

Summary of prescribing information

Description
LIDEX cream 0.05%, LIDEX ointment 0.05% and TOPSYN gel 0.05% contain the active compound fluocinonide. Fluocinonide, which is the 21-acetate ester of fluocinolone acetonide, has the chemical formula 6α, 9α, -difluoro-11β, 16α, 17α, 21-tetrahydroxypregna-1,4-diene-3, 20-dione, cyclic 16, 17-acetal with acetone 21-acetate. LIDEX cream contains fluocinonide in FAPG* cream, a specially formulated cream base consisting of stearyl alcohol, polyethylene glycol 6000, propylene glycol, 1, 2, 6-hexanetriol and citric acid. This white cream vehicle is greaseless, non-staining, anhydrous and completely water miscible. The base provides emollient and hydrophilic properties. In this formulation, the active ingredient is totally in solution.
LIDEX ointment contains fluocinonide in a specially formulated ointment base consisting of Amerchol CAB (mixture of sterols and higher alcohols), white petrolatum, propylene carbonate and propylene glycol. It provides the occlusive and emollient effects desirable in an ointment. In this formulation the active ingredient is totally in solution.
TOPSYN gel contains fluocinonide in a specially formulated gel base consisting of propylene glycol, propyl gallate, disodium edetate, and Carbopol 940 (carboxypolymethylene) with NaOH and/or HCL added to adjust the pH. This clear, colorless, thixotropic vehicle is greaseless, non-staining and completely water miscible. In this formulation, the active ingredient is totally in solution.

Indications
LIDEX cream and ointment and TOPSYN gel are intended for the relief of inflammatory manifestations of corticosteroid responsive dermatoses.

Contraindications
Topical steroids are contraindicated in vaccinia and varicella. Topical steroids are contraindicated in those patients with a history of hypersensitivity to any of the components of the preparation.

Precautions
If irritation develops, the cream, ointment or gel should be discontinued and appropriate therapy instituted. In the presence of an infection the use of an appropriate antifungal or antibacterial agent should be instituted.
If a favorable response does not occur promptly, the corticosteroid cream, ointment or gel should be discontinued until the infection has been adequately controlled.
If extensive areas are treated, the possibility exists of increased systemic absorption and suitable precautions should be taken.
Although topical steroids have not been reported to have an adverse effect on pregnancy, the safety of their use in pregnant females has not absolutely been established. Therefore, they should not be used extensively on pregnant patients, in large amounts or for prolonged periods of time.
LIDEX* (fluocinonide) cream and ointment and TOPSYN* (fluocinonide) gel are not for opthalmic use.

Adverse reactions
The following local adverse reactions have been reported with topical corticosteroids:

burning	folliculitis
itching	acneform eruptions
irritation	hypopigmentation
dryness	striae
secondary infection	skin atrophy

Dosage and administration
A small amount should be gently massaged into the affected area three or four times daily, as needed.

Bellergal-S™ TABLETS

Each Bellergal-S Tablet contains: Phenobarbital, U.S.P., central sedative, (Warning: May be habit forming) 40.0 mg; Gynergen® (ergotamine tartrate, U.S.P.) sympathetic inhibitor, 0.6 mg; Bellafoline® (levorotatory alkaloids of belladonna, as malates) parasympathetic inhibitor, 0.2 mg.

Indications: Bellergal is employed in the management of disorders characterized by nervous tension and exaggerated autonomic response:
Menopausal disorders with hot flashes, sweats, restlessness and insomnia;
Cardiovascular disorders with palpitation, tachycardia, chest oppression and vasomotor disturbances;
Gastrointestinal disorders with hypermotility, hypersecretion, "nervous stomach", and alternately diarrhea and constipation;
Genitourinary—uterine cramps, etc.;
Premenstrual tension;
Interval treatment of recurrent, throbbing headache.

Contraindications: Peripheral vascular disease, coronary heart disease, hypertension, impaired hepatic or renal function, sepsis, third trimester of pregnancy and glaucoma. Hypersensitivity to any of the components.

Precautions: Caution should be exercised if large or prolonged dosage is contemplated, and physicians should be alert to possible peripheral vascular complications in patients highly sensitive to ergot. Due to presence of a barbiturate, may be habit forming.

Side Effects: Blurred vision, dry mouth, flushing, drowsiness rarely occur.

Dosage: One Bellergal-S Tablet in the morning and one in the evening.

How Supplied: In bottles of 100.

Before prescribing, see package insert for full product information.
